

CONFLICT OF INTEREST DISCLOSURE

Financial Relationships and Commercial Interests

In order to ensure an objective course presentation and to maintain a collegiate atmosphere in our classes, we ask that instructors refrain from using non-credit classes as a forum for their personal or company products or services. Specifically we ask your agreement to:

- Limit the mention of your full-time employer or personal services to your personal introduction at the beginning of the course.
- Materials passed out to the class must be on college letterhead or plain paper only.
- No company literature will be given out to students in the classroom or as part of the course.
- Class rosters will never be used to mail students your personal or company literature.
- Class rosters will never be used to solicit students as customers.

Please indicate your understanding and agreement to abide by these guidelines by signing below:
